Academy of Interactive Technology

Welcome to AIT

For more than 25 years, AIT has empowered thousands of students from all over the world to launch successful careers in digital and creative industries.

Course Information

This course will provide you with a strong foundation in information technology, equipping you with the essential knowledge and skills you will need to get a job as an IT professional.

Our vocational diploma covers important technical concepts, such as programming in multiple languages, web development, database design, software engineering and data management. You will also develop critical soft skills for employment such as communication, collaboration, troubleshooting, problem-solving, and critical thinking.

After you graduate, you will be ready for a range of highly-demanded IT positions, such as technical support specialist, network administrator, software developer and more.

Pathways to Bachelor

Upon completion, you may gain direct entry into the second year of AIT's Bachelor of Information Technology, with options to apply for post study work rights after 2 years of study.
